

Yo Kaminagai

Design and Cultural Projects unit manager, Delegation for Transport Environments and Intermodality / RATP, Paris, F

Graduate Ecole nationale des Ponts et Chaussées 1980 (Civil Engineer)

Since October 2001: Delegation for Transport environments and intermodality / Head of Design and Cultural Projects Unit (Design manager)

(function created as Head of the Design Unit in the Projects Departments from 1995 to 2001)

- co-ordination of RATP design management
- co-ordination of RATP cultural development policy
- supervision of design studies and cultural development projects

1990 – 1995: Sales Department / Head of Transport environments Function, in the Service offer and quality Unit

- creation and development of design management in the RATP
- supervision of the prototype for multi-modal management of a transport interchange at Bobigny-Pablo Picasso station, drawing up of the programmes in other strategic interchanges
- management of the Météor project stations specifications group

1989 – 1990: Sales Department / Head of Passenger Information Unit

- drawing up of the first master plan for passenger information (strategic programming document)
- setting up of new passenger information standards (new map collection, new Bus colour signage)
- setting up of global information management, structuring the passenger information central team

1980 – 1989: General Studies Department / Sales Development Unit

In charge of studies and marketing projects

- drawing up specifications of new rolling stock
- writing the first signage standards for the RER
- innovation projects (“Situ” trip indicator system, “BusVideo” interactive information system in buses, “MetroVideo” CCTV in metros, “Roue Libre” bicycle rental service)

A design strategy for our transport interchanges

Abstract

in preparation